

Intern/Working Student (m/f/d) for Mental Health Startup (Paid)

Who are we?

We are a mental health startup that is launching a highly successful emotions-based therapy via Mobile App. The method is scientifically proven by the Max-Planck Institute and supported by Universities, scientists, doctors and psychologists, books on our method have sold over 300.000 times and thousands of workshop clients and readers have successfully and lastingly improved their mental health.

What are we looking for?

We are looking for a highly motivated, skilled and purpose-driven Intern or Working Student who will work closely together with the founders to support the company towards international success. You are a student of economics, communications, marketing, media studies or similar and looking for an Internship (3-6 months)/Working Student (20 hours/week).

What will keep you challenged?

- Be part of a company that will revolutionize the mental health space
- Support the incredibly exciting launch phase
- Support our Marketing initiatives with social media campaigns and newsletters
- Help with medical and strategic research
- Speak directly with our clients and support our customer service
- Help with administrative tasks and office management

Which traits contribute to your success?

- Creative mindset and interested in digital technologies and social media
- Experience with Google Analytics, Google Ads or Google Search Console and similar digital marketing tools.
- Analytical skills and a strategic mindset
- You are adept at dealing with MS Office applications, such as PowerPoint, Excel and Word
- Fluent German and English skills, both written and spoken

What do we offer you?

- The chance to help build a great and meaningful company
- Product offering already validated with many incredible testimonials
- Supervision and support from experienced entrepreneurs
- Growing company with secured Pre-Seed funding
- Paid Internship and possibility to receive a Pre-Placement offer after three months

- If this sounds interesting, get in touch via simran@herzog-methode.de -